When the World Series kicks off tonight on FOX, this year's Fall Classic promises to be doozy: The Boston Red Sox will face the St. Louis Cardinals in a pre-expected rematch of the 2004 series. That year, the Sox surprised the All-Star by four games to win their first championship since 1918. In addition, there are secret stories at stake that can surprise you – and may even make you richer. Here Kevin Millar of MLB (himself a member of this famed Sox team from 1904) reveals four great things to watch in this time world series. 1. There will be no Cinderella story. More often than not, the World Series usually involves two teams to be hot at the right time - but not this year. No Wild Card team has even made it to the division this postseason. The two best teams with the best records almost never happen, says Millar. These two clubs are the same as you get. I think the Cardinals might have an advantage in St. Louis because you have to lose Mike Napoli or David Ortiz, because the designated killer isn't used in NL parks. But with Fenway, you have to prioritize the Red Sox, because it's a tough place to win. In other words, bet on Game 7, says Millar. 2. But there will be a frog that turns into a prince. We're going to stop fairy tales. But we do know that this year the star will be the least-expected star, as the series is designed to make big names out of the unknown. It's an event, says Millar. People have a chance to make a legacy for themselves. He points to the example of Keith Lockhart, atanta's backup second baseman in the 1990s. Lockhart became a hero when he hit an RBI triple to give the Braves the lead in the 15th inning of the 1999 National Championship Series. This year, Millar eliminated Cardinals center Fielder Shane Robinson, who hit the minors before the nlcs ruck. Last week, no one knew who Shane Robinson was, says Millar. These guys are pretty pretty. 3. Those appointments at peak times that you see? They're pointless. Even on a stage as big as the World Series, baseball players talk about drained nonsense when they conference on the field, says Millar. We're grown men, fathers and husbands, but we're such young children, he says. You see a big visit in the sixth inning with two outs and men at first and second base. The carriage comes out and everyone wonders what he's going to say. But most of the time it's like, Hey, you look great in that white uniform. Very slimy. Maybe you'd look better with a black jersey.' 4. World Series pressure does not win in NL parks. As with in-game talks, baseball players don't put a lot of stock under pressure. Because you can sweat through any playground, boys, the field seduces calmer, says Millar. I never understood all the pressure. It's a game. It's a baseball game you make millions of dollars, and people are here to watch you. Where's the pressure? Because you hit or you hit a home run? The pressure has to worry about paying the bills. The pressure knows they're going to give up 150 employees, and you could be one of them. Sure, it might be a little embarrassing if you're Michael Wachu and you have to get David Ortiz out, but that's not pressure - it's an execution. Kevin Millar and Chris Rose will co.m.s intentional on-the-spot talks at 5 p.m. If you liked this story, you'll like it; this content is created and maintained by a third party and imported to this page to help users secure their email addresses. Who was so excited, he dislocated his shoulder, which was celebrating. The Dodgers will now take on the Rays in the Fall Classic as they try to see whether it's a third time when it comes to matching the World Series title. Coronavirus UpdatePo Johns Hopkins, There are more than 40.1 million cases of the virus worldwide, with more than 1.1 million deaths. The U.S. surpassed 8.1 million cases with 219,000 deaths. As part of the COVID-19 tracking project, 48,922 new cases were reported on Sunday, down from the 57,943 cases reported the day before. 978,769 new tests were reported. Yesterday, 393 deaths were reported, higher than the 780 deaths reported the day before. House Democrats and the White House are expected to meet later Monday to discuss the incentives again. That's what happened after weekend negotiations with Treasury Secretary Steven Mnuchin, and House Speaker Nancy Pelosi set a deadline for a settlement on the aid package if there is hope that an agreement will be reached before the election. Pelosi said that the 48-hour deadline from Saturday only applies to whether we want to do this before the election, which is what we are doing. Pelosi told ABC News: They're telling them, we need to freeze the design on some of these things - are we going with it or not and what's the language? I'm optimistic because we've been back to all this. Still, there is still some opposition to the big stimulus package, even though President Donald Trump has said he's willing to exceed the $2.2 trillion that exists in the Republican-controlled Senate. The NFL PA warns against CBD's NFL boards, it seems it's not quite ready to accept CBD. Last week, the NFL players' association sent out an email to all NFL agents saying that the union is not advising players to notify CBD businesses the day after Cleveland Browns quarterback Baker Mayfield announced he was becoming an ambassador for FOR and an investor in the CBD company. The memo noted that the NFL issued new rules at the start of the 2020 season that thucus to allow coaches and other employees to support or appear in ads for alcoholic beverages, tobacco or CBD products. Now those new rules are part of a new 10-year collective bargaining agreement negotiated between the league and its players' union, the NFLPA. I contacted the NFLPA and they said the call was encouraging because of the influx of investigations into players and agents on the subject. They also said that players who break the rule are subject to league discipline, but the union would not specify what that discipline is. While the new agreement runs for 10 years from 2021 to 2030, part of the new deal allows the league to make some changes this year. If you recall, the players voted in March with a sharp 1,019 for and 959 voted on a new 10-year peace treaty. And that was over the loud opposition of eminent players such as Aaron Rodgers, Stephon Gilmore, and Marlon Humphrey.Media reported that about 500 players were not bothered to vote. Given that, players are getting a win in the new CBA LEAGUE with the league not suspending multiple players who tested positive for marijuana, while shortening the testing window to two weeks at the start of training camp rather than the four-month testing period from the previous CBA. For players who tested positive, this test will be reviewed by a panel of medical experts who will then decide whether the player needs treatment. The point is, Baker Mayfield should probably expect a letter from the league, if not. Robin Lundberg and TheStreet's Tony Owusu contributed to this report. Specializing in design & installation of high quality slabd stones for driveway, terraces & pool decks. Tips for choosing the best paver color for your project When you're done selecting the primary specifications of the project, design ideas, style, you need to jump quickly to choose a color palette for the paver. ENCINO, CA, Dec. 25, 2020 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) - When you're done with choosing the primary specifications of the project, design ideas, style, you need to quickly jump to choosing a color palette for glasses. The decision to add numbness to your residence is a key step. And no, not because the task is huge and insaunable - all the great work can be done by paver companies in LA. This is an important step because the right choice can completely transform the look of your property, while the wrong move can undermine the overall attractiveness of the train! Whether you're going to install paddocks during the construction of a new home or renovating the space, some decisions are needed. When you are finished selecting the primary specifications of the project, design ideas, style, you need to quickly jump to the choice of color palette for the glasses. Whether you find the task horrific or extremely attractive, this should be done with caution; can literally accept or break your project. Before jumping into the task, check out the following tips to choose the color paver correctly – * Do Your Research and Know Your OptionsNe's every company to install terraces in LA maintains high quality options in color and quality. Many manufacturers outsource materials. The options would be available on the basis of the regions of their outsourcer. Before you start a project, fill out the project's reading and discuss your requirements. From the beginning, be clear and inform them of your specific needs, if any. See their collection first, even if you're not sure what you want to get. That'll give you clarity, and you'd know what's coming your way. No unexpected surprises! You also rent a paver installation in Los Angeles that is open to exploring ideas and have the creative side of their work. * Start by putting all the information about your property When you have built a new site, renovating, or just getting the installation converter to amp up your outdoor space, specify all the details of your property at the very beginning. Each room is different and is equipped with special features. In order not to end up with a contractual function, you need to let the reliever company know everything in advance. To keep the colors of your terraces rich and vibrant for many years, share the details of - * Lighting system on the room where the terrace is located. * The enormounness of exposure to the required rainwater area. * Any exceptional use of the desired space. * Choose the right color ToneConsider large piece of your work that is already done when you select the desired color tone for your project. Two wide tones are light and dark color palettes. We recommend that you do not make this decision based on your personal decisions. Instead, look for color schemes that will complement other elements of your house. Consider the following things before choosing a colour tone- * Architectural style and color scheming of the surrounding elements * Purpose of the room - the pool terrace goes well with the light shades of blue; barbecue and party terrace space blend in good with dark colors. * The vibration you want to attract - Light shades reflect the idea of openness and invite people. They also fit well with the natural landscape. Dark shades give the idea of solcity, calmness and goatee. * Decide whether you want a monochrome or multicolored paverThe next decision is whether you want to go monotonous or mix-match different colors. It depends entirely on your taste. Monotone colors give a rich, modern and comfortable look. The entire area, which is extended to the same shade of the color palette, will give uniformly to aesthetics. A multi-coloured theme would brighten the room and make it vibrant, colorful and cheerful. They will bring diversity and creativity. While the monotone paver displays both large and small stains very clearly, multicolored pavers are drenched in easily and don't expose the stains * Give contrasting colors TryMost people like to go with simplicity and don't opt for anything too far outside the line. Even during the experiment, certain boundaries of colours and patterns are maintained. But if you want to include something exciting and out of the box, try contrasting colors. That would give you a brave view of your space. If it's not your forte to bold, you can easily make a contrasting effect on the boundaries. * Ask for samples and examples If you choose the desired color combination, talk to the paver artist. Do not take a final dive before viewing samples and past work cases. It is very possible that you like the color shade in the imagination, but it may not prove pleasant for your eye or your choice. Take the final call last. The only thing that matters is your final choice. It's the job of Paver's companies to turn your imagination into reality. So you don't get disappointed with the results, hire the best paver artist in Los Angeles. Eminent Pavers are one of the best pavers installations in LA.
